This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

The name of Lincoln, variously spelled, was a common one in Hingham, Norfolk County, England, for many years before the settlement of America, and it is quite probable that the settlers of that name in Hingham, on the Massachusetts Bay, were from that town.

There were eight mature male persons bearing the name of Lincoln who were early found in Hingham, Mass. Daniel Lincoln, who died unmarried, April 3, 1640, and his brothers Samuel Lincoln, and Thomas Lincoln the weaver, Daniel Lincoln the sergeant, Stephen Lincoln and his brother Thomas Lincoln the husbandman, Thomas Lincoln the cooper, and Thomas Lincoln the miller. All of these, with the exception of the first mentioned Daniel, and Thomas the weaver, left families, and from these Hingham Lincolns have descended nearly all who now bear the name.

The object of this work, primarily, is to record conveniently the descendants of Stephen Lincoln of Oakham, Mass. [he being a descendant of Thomas Lincoln the miller], all being within easy lines of consanguinity, the most remote being cousins in the third degree. And, secondarily, as a matter of general interest, to record the ancestry of Stephen Lincoln, so far as the various lines can be followed; and it is a pleasing circumstance to note, that in tracing back four generations from Stephen, there are but two unknown family names, these being the wives of Richard Stacey and William Robinson. Of the generation immediately preceding these, many are English people who remained upon their native soil, and of whom it is difficult to learn.

No genealogy of the Lincoln family is designed, this effort being nothing more than a contribution to such a work should one ever be attempted. It has been made brief in its text, but as full in its facts as circumstances have allowed, and it is hoped that it contains but few errors or blunders.

The compiler has made use of all material that has come in his way, taking freely from the text of published works, and desires to acknowledge his indebtedness to their authors. Public records have served to supply very much of the earlier history and the kindness of friends has made possible the later portions. To all of these the compiler tenders his acknowledgments.

The work is divided for convenience into two parts. The first contains the record of the ancestry of Stephen Lincoln, and the second relates to Stephen and his descendants. Owing to difficulty in arranging the two parts symmetrically by reason of their diverse character, two indexes have been prepared, that to part first referring to pages, while that to part second refers to numbers, all the names in this portion being consecutively numbered.

PART FIRST.

THE ANCESTRY OF STEPHEN LINCOLN.

FIRST GENERATION.

A star (*) prefixed to a name signifies that the person's number and family occur in the succeeding generation, the number being in the center of the line directly over the family record.

Thomas Lincoln was born in England about 1603. He came to New England in 1635, and settled in Hingham on the Massachusetts Bay, and July 3, 1636, had a house-lot of five acres granted him on what is now South street, near Main. Other lots were also assigned him for planting purposes. Before 1650 he removed with his family to Taunton, and established a grist-mill upon a little stream now called Mill River, at a point now nearly in the heart of the city, near the street leading from the railway station to the City Square. Tradition says that in this mill King Philip and his chiefs met with the pioneers of the town for a peaceful conference. Mr. Lincoln was probably brought up to the miller's trade, and continued in this business during his residence in Taunton. He was commonly known as Thomas, "the miller," as a distinguishing title from the several other Thomas Lincolns of Hingham, who were also known by the titles of their avocations.

Not much of fact in the lives of the early settlers of this country can be learned after the lapse of nearly three centuries, but such items as have been preserved are worthy of record, though not of themselves possessing much importance. Among such items relating to Thomas Lincoln is one preserved in the quaint records of the Plymouth Colony, informing us of his service as a member of a jury, convened to inquire into the facts of the death of a young man named Thomas Cooke, given in this wise:

"Tho Cooke aged about twenty yeares, late of Ipswidge, trauelling towards Equednett, accompanied with a youth about Twelue yeares of age, both of them lodging att the ordenary att Taunton the 2cond day of May, 1650. and vppon the 10th day of the said month the body of the aforsaid Tho Cooke was found dead in the riuer of Taunton about six miles from the towne. Whervppon a jury of twelue men was empannelled to inquire how and by what meanes hee came by yt vntimly death." "The eleuenth day of May the jury brought in theire verdict, yt the youth by the aduise of the said Tho Cooke, did take a cannowe without the knowlidge of the owner thereof, and making hast away lest hee should bee pursewed, did stand in the end of the canoowe to paddle it away, and did fall into the riuer and so by yt accident was drowned and came to his end."

Other quaint records of jury duty might be quoted, but one will suffice. June 4, 1650, Thomas Lincoln was appointed one of the "survayors of Hiewayes" for Taunton. The land records of Bristol County show many evidences of title to estates possessed by Thomas Lincoln, and he is reputed to have been the largest land owner in the Town of Taunton in his time. He was a man of substance. We learn of him in connection with a very interesting industry early established in that new country. Iron ore had early been discovered to be abundant in the flats bordering on Two Mile River and other localities in Taunton, and in October, 1652, steps were taken to establish the first iron works in the Old Colony in Taunton, and leading citizens of the town, interested in the enterprise, formed a stock company. Among "the names of those who hath put themselves to be proprietors in the Bloomerie," were Thomas Lincoln, Sen., Richard Williams, Richard Stacey, and George Watson, all ancestors of Stephen Lincoln of Oakham.

The building of a dam across Two Mile River, preparing the timber for the necessary buildings, obtaining from abroad the hammers and heavy machinery and tools required for the manufacture of bar-iron, occupied a long time before the works could be put in practical operation, but this was finally accomplished in 1656. In 1660 the works were leased to George Hall, Hezekiah Hoar, and Francis Smith, "to whom full liberty was given that they might take into this contract with themselves, whom they liked of." They took into the partnership, among others, Thomas Lincoln, Sen., and Jonah Austin, Sen.

(another ancestor of Stephen Lincoln). These works thus early established, remained in operation until 1883, when the old buildings were demolished and the dam and foundation walls alone remained of the ancient Taunton Iron Works of two and a quarter centuries, the oldest successful iron manufactory in New England. A fact worth noticing in connection with this industry relates to the use of the iron manufactured at these works, as currency. The pioneer settlers were greatly embarrassed in their business transactions by the scarcity of money. They had very little specie, there were no banks, no Bank of England notes were in circulation, and so resort was made to the bar-iron made at the Taunton works as a "circulating medium of exchange," at about twenty shillings per hundred. It entered largely into the transactions of business, and, as iron was as much in demand in Dorchester and Boston as in Taunton, these works, of which Thomas Lincoln was a proprietor, proved in more ways than one a blessing to the people.

Thomas Lincoln brought with him to this country, probably, two or three children. Of the identity of his wife there is no trace, but he married for a second wife, Elizabeth Streete, Dec. 10, 1665. She was the widow of Francis Streete, by whom she had one child, a daughter, Mary.

The will of Thomas Lincoln was made August 28, 1683, when he was about eighty years of age, and was proved at Plymouth, March 5, 1683–4. He left an estate valued at £205: 8. Here follows the will and inventory of his estate:

He removed to Scituate. He died Jan. 31, 1704–5, aged 60 years, and was buried at "Neck o' Land." The inventory of his estate disclosed property valued at £288 : 3 : 7 (Bristol Probate, ii, 131). July 2, 1705, his widow petitioned that administration be granted his eldest son, Joseph Willis of Taunton. His children, so far as we know:

i. JOSEPH, b. ——.
ii. THOMAS, b. ——.

SECOND GENERATION.

Thomas Lincoln, Jr. (distinguished in the records by the title of grand senior), was born, probably in England, and was baptized in Hingham in Feb. 1637–8, by Rev. Peter Hobart. He early became a resident of Taunton. He married Mary, daughter of Jonah and Constance Austin. He was a husband-man. Oct. 11, 1662, in consideration of 40 shillings he sold to Daniel Cushing of Hingham "all my great lot containing 16 acres, lately given me by Thomas Lincklon my father, lying in the township of Hingham on the Great Plaine, and was given by the inhabitants of Hingham unto the said Thomas Linkon my father"—(Suffolk Deeds, iv, 65.) We do not know much of the life of this Thomas Lincoln, but the Plymouth Colony Record (iv, 90) discloses an item of interest as follows. At a court held at Plymouth, March 7, 1664–5, "Thomas Linkorne Senir for breaking the Kings peace, was fined 3s. 4d." What his particular offense was is not intimated, but in those early days it was an easy matter for the best citizens to break the "Kings peace" with very little effort.

Thomas Lincoln died, probably, not far from 1694, for early in that year he distributed his property to his surviving children, reserving a life maintenance, as evidenced by the following deeds: It will be observed that he mentions his "present wife," but whether he refers to Mary Austin, or a second wife, we have no knowledge.

"Know all Men by these presents, that I, Thomas Lincon Grand Senr of Taunton in ye County of Bristoll within the Province of the Massachusett Bay in New England, out of the Dear Love & affection which I Bear unto my son Thomas Lincon Senr of said Taunton, Have given" &c., "unto him my said son Thomas Lincon, that part of my ffarme on which the old Dweling House of my said Son Thomas Lincon formely stood, Running from said old House to William Briggs his fence according to ye Bounds allready sett out to him. V. JONAH, b. July 7, 1660. His will was dated in Bristol, April 4, 1709, and probated Nov. 3, 1712. He probably had no children, as he leaves one-third of his property to his wife, and the rest to the two children of his sister, Mercy Caswell.
VI. SARAH, b. July 7, 1660.
VII. HANNAH, b. March 15, 1663.
VIII. CONSTANT, b. May 16, 1665; m. July 13, 1687, William Briggs, son of William. He was b. Jan. 25, 1667.
IX. MERCY, b. April 3, 1670; m. William Caswell, of Taunton.
X. EXPERIENCE, b. ——. Nathaniel Lincoln (son of Thomas 3d), in his will of Oct. 17, 1757, directs that his wife shall care for his aunt Experience, and give her a Christian burial.

THIRD GENERATION.

Thomas Lincoln (3d) was born in Taunton April 21, 1656. He was a soldier taking part in the Indian troubles known as King Philip's war. March 10, 1675, he was found guilty of mutinous conduct in "breaking away from the army," with others, under the lead of Lieutenant Robert Barker, "when they were on theire march," Lieutenant Barker "by his example alureing others to come away with him to the great scandoll, prejudice and disparragement of the collonie." For this misconduct he was fined the amount of his pay, eight pounds.

He married Mary, daughter of Richard and Abigail Stacey. Richard Stacey died in 1687, and December 7th of that year Thomas Lincoln was appointed administrator on his estate. He married (2d) Nov. 14, 1689, Susanna Smith, daughter of Samuel. She was born Jan. 25, 1664. We find no will recorded to him, and the date of his death is unknown. By a deed dated March 3, 1711–2, recorded in Bristol Land Records (vii, 169), we know he had at least one son.

CHILD.[1]

*4. I. NATHANIEL, b. about 1684.

FOURTH GENERATION.

Nathaniel Lincoln, born in Taunton about 1684. In the military forces he held the rank of sergeant. In his will he directs that "my grand son, son of my son Nathaniel Linkon, he shall have and hold my gun, powder horns, bullets, shott, and all appurtenances belonging to military accoutrements, he to have and hold ye same forever." The name of this grandson is not given. He married Alice, daughter of Capt. John and Alice (Shaw) Andrews. He was engaged in the milling business, with his father-in-law, at Three Mile River, a point three miles west from Taunton, which place was known for more than a century as "Andrews Mills," but now called Westville. Nathaniel conducted a grist-mill, while Capt. Andrews attended to the saw-mill. This is shown by deed from Andrews to Lincoln recorded in Bristol Land Records (xxi, 505), dated June 3, 1732, in which for the consideration of fifty pounds is conveyed "one quarter part of that land on which the grist mill standeth which was built by said Nathaniel Linkon, Edmond Andrews, Seth Andrews and myself, on the River called three mile River in Taunton aforesaid, on which River my saw mill also standeth, also to have one quarter part of the privilege of the streem of water that will be nessary for ye grist mill," etc.

[1]James Minor Lincoln in his book, "The Lincoln Family and Branches," gives him also Thomas and Jonathan, and perhaps others.

His will was dated Oct. 17, 1757, and proved May 9, 1761. He died March 22, 1761, in his seventy-seventh year.

FIFTH GENERATION.

Nathaniel Lincoln Jr., born in Taunton in 1725. He married, Oct. 11, 1743, Elizabeth Robinson, daughter of Increase, Jr., and Mehitabel (Williams) Robinson. His first two children were probably born in Taunton. He removed to Rehoboth, where, Dec. 27, 1750, he purchased a homestead of Nathaniel Cobb, "a House where ye sd Nathaniell Linkon now dwells, with ye Cedar Swamps adjoyning thereto." He removed from Rehoboth to New Braintree, Mass., probably in 1759, and Jan. 6, 1763, purchased of David Gilbert, Jr., of that town, a tract of nineteen acres lying in lot 9 of the "Braintree Grant of 6000 acres so called," which he describes as "a Piece of Land on which my House stands, and that I now own by virtue of a deed from Beriah Haws dated ye eleventh day of April 1759," showing that he was already a resident. He added to the area of his farm by a purchase of four acres of adjoining land July 6th following, and July 27, 1770, obtained five acres more. His farm appears to have been located "North of the road leading to the meeting house," and he conveyed it in May, 1774, to his son Nathaniel, "with the consent of Elizabeth my present wife." He removed to Petersham, Mass., probably in 1778, as in that year he obtained a leasehold there, as will appear later. March 17, 1784, he bought the farm formerly owned by Henry Chase, the father of his son-in-law. He is in this deed described as "of Petersham." The price of this farm was £600.

His father, in his will of Oct. 17, 1757, bequeaths to Nathaniel, "over and above what I have already given him, & paid to one Elisha Bosworth towards his settlement, and lands I conveyed him at a place called Three Mile River, I give him now fifteen pounds lawful money to be paid to sd Nathaniel within three years after my decease, by my son Ichabod Linkon or his heirs. And further I give sd son Nathaniel Linkon his heirs and assigns forever, all my Cedar Swamp in Taunton Great Cedar swamp, & in a cedar swamp called Crooked Meadow Cedar Swamp within ye townships of sd Taunton and Raynham, (that called ye burnt ground only excepted.) I also give sd Nathaniel his heirs and assigns forever, one half my interest in a grist mill known by ye name of Capt Andrews mill. I also give my sd son Nathaniel Linkon his heirs and assigns forever, all my whole interest in Taunton old township within sd County, with lands due thereon and right to all commonage in said property, and after my wifes widowhood I give him one half of all my husbandry tools as shall be left at her decease, and all my wearing apparel, and all I have heretofore given sd son he to have and hold ye same after my wifes decease or at time of her intermarriage, if she should do so." His father died March 22, 1761, but before he died, on the 6th of March, he revoked, in a codicil, his gift of the cedar swamps, the interest in the grist-mill, and the ten pounds (a previous codicil having reduced the original gift of £15 to £10), and gave them to his son Ichabod. Why this action was taken does not appear, but it may have been the result of displeasure at his son's removal to New Braintree, which event probably occurred in 1759.

Where Nathaniel Lincoln removed to from Petersham is not positively known. The last recorded item we find relating to him is the seizure by the sheriff of a leasehold, "a certain piece of land on the east side of the great road in Petersham, leased by Thomas Clement to Lincoln for ten years from Oct 17 1778, containing buildings possessed by sd Lincoln." This action was to satisfy a judgment against him of £45 : 02 : 01, in favor of the estate of John Chandler, the value of the unexpired term of the lease being consideration sufficient to satisfy judgment and costs. The record states that at this time Nathaniel Lincoln, the debtor, was "absent." Undoubtedly this stress in his affairs was brought about by the exceedingly depressed financial condition of the country during the years immediately succeeding the close of the Revolutionary War.

A tradition in the family relates that Nathaniel Lincoln went to New Marlborough, where his wife died, and then, after living for a time with his son Stephen in Oakham, he removed to Attleborough, where he died, over eighty years of age. The truth of this tradition has not been ascertained, as no records have been found to confirm it.

CHILDREN.

I. NATHANIEL, b. probably in Taunton. He removed with his father to New Braintree, where he followed the trade of a tanner. He purchased of his father in 1774 a farm in New Braintree, on the north side of the road leading to the meeting-house. He m. in Oakham (published), June 7, 1791, widow Ruth Delanoe. (Probably a second marriage, though we have no record of a former one.) He removed to Sag Harbor, L. I.; then resided temporarily in Hartford, Conn.; but returned to Sag Harbor, where he was living in 1809. He had two sons and one daughter. One son, Lemuel Lincoln, d. in Hartford, Aug. 23, 1809. On his gravestone in the North Burying-ground in Hartford is this inscription: "In Memory of Lemuel Lincoln who died Aug 23 1809, aged 31 years.

> "Farewell dear friend; where thou, we trust, art gone,
> Adieus and farewells are a sound unknown.
> May we but meet thee on that peaceful shore,
> The parting sound shall pass our lips no more."

Lemuel Lincoln left two sons, George and Lemuel, the latter eight months old. It is said they went to St. Louis.

II. SOPHIA, b. ——, probably in Taunton. She m. Feb. 6, 1766, Joseph Parker, Jr., of New Braintree. They are said to have lived afterward in Kingston, Vt.

III. RACHEL, b. June 15, 1749, in Rehoboth. She m. in New Braintree, July 11, 1771, Henry Chase, Jr., son of Henry and Abigail (Stratton) Chase of Petersham. He was born in Petersham, Nov. 4, 1748. We know of no children of this marriage. He married again, Sept. 12, 1782, Susanna Shattuck of Petersham.

THE OTHER LINES OF
STEPHEN LINCOLN'S ANCESTRY.

(So Far as Known.)

AUSTIN.

1. Jonah Austin came in the Hercules with wife Constance, from Sandwich, County Kent, England. He was of Tenterden, and mayor of that borough. He settled perhaps first at Cambridge, then called Newtown, for about 1638 he sold there "two acres of planting ground in the west end." He is found in Hingham as early as 1635, but did not remain there many years, for in 1643 he was in Taunton. In 1650 he sold his possessions in Hingham to John Beal, Sr., consisting of his home-lot of four acres with house and barn, eight acres of land in Hockley Neck, and four acres at Broad Cove. At about this time he purchased from William Holloway his home-lot in Taunton, consisting of about six acres with the buildings thereon, and some forty-five acres more in various locations, a lot of twenty-six acres being "about two mile distant from the towne." He "took the oath of fidellitie" June 3, 1657. He was one of the partners in the Taunton Iron Works in 1660, and is recorded at various times as a juryman. His wife died April 22, 1667, and he died in Taunton July 30, 1683. We learn of two

ANDREWS.

1. John Andrews is found in Boston in 1656. The Bible record still in the possession of the family, says he was "a sea-cooper, and came from Wales to America." He died in Boston June 25, 1679, and the inventory of his effects includes "tooles and coopers stuffe," dwelling house and grounds, and household goods. He married Hannah Jackson, daughter of Edmund and Martha Jackson of Boston. After the death of her husband she married John Dickinson. John Andrews' first wife was Lucy ——, who died Sept. 1, 1653, but probably left no children.

2. John Andrews, born in Boston Sept. 20, 1662, was a housewright. In 1692 he purchased several tracts of land and a dwelling house in New Bristol (now Bristol, R. I.) of Thomas Lewis of Mendon, and resided there. In 1701 he sold this property and purchased a farm in Taunton, including a water privilege on the bank of Three Mile River, where, with Nathaniel Lincoln, he built a grist-mill and a saw-mill, and the location was known as "Andrews Mills" for about a century, but is now called Westville. Here he passed the remainder of his life. He held the military title of captain; held various town offices; was chairman of the Board of Selectmen four years, also deputy sheriff. He was a man highly esteemed. He died July 25, 1742, at the age of 80 years. He married Alice Shaw, daughter of John and Alice (Phillips) Shaw of Weymouth. She was born July 6, 1666, and died Feb. 1, 1735. He married (2d) Mary, widow of Jacob Barney, and daughter of Rev. Samuel Danforth.

ROBINSON.

1. William Robinson was of Dorchester in 1636. Made freeman May 18, 1642. His wife was Margaret ——, who was the mother of his children. He married (2d) Ursula, widow of Samuel Hosier and earlier of Stephen Streeter. Feb. 5, 1651, he bought of John Phillips of Boston for the sum of £150 his dwelling house in Dorchester "near unto Naponsett Riuer," with all the outhouses, barns, gardens, and orchards, and several other parcels of land containing 73 acres altogether. He died July 6, 1668, the inventory of his property showing an estate of over £435. His widow, Ursula, married for her fourth husband, July 15, 1673, Griffin Crafts.

2. Increase Robinson, baptized March 14, 1642, was a freeman of Taunton, May 29, 1670. June 5, 1671, he was appointed "Surveyor of Highwaies," and Oct. 30, 1678, was given authority to make seizure of liquor brought illegally into the town. He is several times found serving upon the jury in Taunton. He was an early settler upon the "Mount Hope Lands," which tract was deeded by Taunton to the settlers there Sept. 14, 1680, this action being confirmed by the General Court on the 29th, and a new town which was called Bristol, organized Sept. 1, 1681. This town was annexed to Rhode Island Jan. 27, 1746–7: Increase Robinson was one of the persons admitted to citizenship of this town on its organization, and May 22, 1682, was chosen constable, an office of much importance, refusal to accept which created the liability to a fine of four pounds. Bar-iron made at the Taunton Iron Works being in the early days an acceptable "circulating medium," we find Increase Robinson availing himself of it to pay his minister, Rev. Mr. Danforth, as here appears.

"Captain Leonard: Sir, I would intreate you to pay James Tisdale ye sum of 2–7–6 in iron at 22 s. per hund. and make me Debtr for it on ye account of ye Credit Mr. Danford gave mie on your book.

He removed to Taunton, where he was made freeman, June 5, 1644. He married, Feb. 11, 1632, Frances Dighton, daughter of John and Jane (Bassett) Dighton of Somersetshire, England. Her sister Katharine became the second wife of Governor Thomas Dudley.

He was one of the eighty purchasers of the tract of land bought of the Cohannet Indians, which became known as the "Eight Mile Square," and which received the name of Taunton at the time of incorporation in 1640. He was a representative to the General Court at Plymouth at fifteen sessions between 1643 and 1669, and Oct. 20, 1646, was fined twenty shillings for non-attendance, which fine was afterwards remitted. He was selectman of Taunton from 1666 to 1677, with the exception of the years 1669 and 1670; and April 2, 1677, was a member of a council created to regulate the distribution of arms and ammunition to the people should war offer an occasion. We do not know the date of death of his wife. He died in 1693. He was a tanner by trade, deacon of the church, and one of the original shareholders of the Taunton Iron Works, receiving his dividends in bar-iron, at a good average rate on his investment.

SHAW.

1. Abraham Shaw married in Northowram, Parish of Halifax, Yorkshire, England, June 24, 1616, Bridget Best, daughter of Henry, of Ovenden. She was baptized April 9, 1592. He came to America and was an early proprietor of Watertown, and was admitted freeman March 9, 1636–7. His house and goods were burned in Watertown in October, 1636, and he probably removed to Dedham immediately after and was one of the first subscribers to the covenant in that town. In 1637 he had a grant of half the coal and iron to be found in the common lands, which must have discouraged him, for he died the following year, after executing the following will, which he omitted to date. "Memorandum, that if it please almyghtie God to take me to his mercye by death, That it is my minde & will that my estate shal be disposed of as followeth. (that is to say), I bequeathe to my sonne John & Martha Shawe, being infants, ten pownds betweene them, also betweene the aforesd Martha & Marye I leave as much quicke goods as shal be balance to eight pownds, also to Joseph in some goods, twelve pownds as may be thought fitt; furder, that Joseph & John shall have my lott att Dedham equally to be devided between them Also that all the rest of my estate whatsoever be devided, proportionate, betweene all my children." This will was witnessed by Nicholas Biram and Joseph Shawe, who were also ordered by the court to "make an Inventorye of the estate by the helpe and advice of Mr. Edward Allen." The children were baptized in Northowram, except Susannah (said to have been his daughter), who married Dr. Nicholas Byram of Weymouth.

SAMUEL, born ——.

(Perhaps others.)

2. George Watson, born in England in 1603, was one of the prominent early settlers of Plymouth. He was freeman there in 1633. In 1635 he bought of John Jeney the dwelling-house and garden, "which was sometimes Richard Maistersons," for twenty-three pounds.

He was a yeoman and sailing-master, perhaps fisherman. Oct. 2, 1637, a warrant was issued for the apprehension of Abraham Hooper alias Pottle, "to answere for takeing of fish out of Georg Watsons boate upon the Lords day without his consent." June 4, 1639, he was appointed on the "Grand Enquest." (jury.) Feb. 6, 1636–7, he was fined for trading with the Indians for corn "contrary to the auncient lawes of this Colony." March 14, 1635 he was granted land at Island Creek, and Nov. 30, 1640, was granted six acres at Greens Harbour Marsh. Feb. 1, 1640–1, he was a member of the jury appointed "to lay forth certaine heigh wayes," and is many times found serving upon the jury between 1637 and 1684.

May 12, 1653, the Council of War met at Plymouth having received intelligence from the Commissioners at Boston "of theire agitations about and conserning a warr with the Duch in these *p*tes of America." Warrants were issued for the pressing of 60 men "able and fitt for warr," and "moreover two barkques were alsoe pressed to attend the expedition, the barqe in which George Watson Sayleth, together with him the mr (master) thereof." June 6, 1660, he was chosen constable of Plymouth and again June 5, 1672. In 1666 he was a "Celect man." He was one of the original share-holders in the Taunton Iron Works in 1653–4. He married in Plymouth in 1635, Phoebe, daughter of Robert and Margaret Hicks, who died May 22, 1663. He died Jan. 31, 1689, in his eighty-seventh year.

4. MEHITABLE WILLIAMS, married Increase Robinson, Jr.
5. ELIZABETH ROBINSON, married Nathaniel Lincoln, Jr.
6. STEPHEN LINCOLN, married Lydia Foster.

PHILLIPS.

1. Nicholas Phillips was one of the first settlers of Dedham, and a signer of the Covenant. At the first recorded meeting of the proprietors, Aug. 18, 1636, he was one of seven persons to receive a grant of twelve acres of land. His lot was located on what is now High Street, not far from the railroad station. He shortly got into trouble by a somewhat indiscriminate use of his axe, as the following record reveals: "Dec 31 1636. Wheras Nicholas Phillips hath felled cteyne trees wthout his Lott wthout licence contrary to an order made in that behalfe, Therefore he is fyned to pay unto ye Collector for the use of ye Town the sum of Ten shillings."

He removed to Weymouth in 1640; was made freeman May 13, 1640, and the same day was appointed "a committee for Weymouth" to the General Court at Boston. He was deacon in the church. His will was made June 2, 1671, and proved Oct. 3, 1672. His eldest son Richard was made executor, and his brother Henry of Dedham was to act as overseer. We do not know who his wife was.

HICKS.

1. Robert Hicks was in 1616 a fellmonger (leather dresser), living in Barmundsey Street, Southwark, London. He came to America in the Fortune, Nov. 21, 1621, and his wife Margaret and children followed in the Ann, in the summer of 1623. He settled in Plymouth, and received a grant of four acres of land, "that goeth in wth a corner by ye ponde." The earlier settlers were arranged in "lotts" or companies, for the more convenient division of the common stock of cattle among them. To the lot in which Robert Hicks and his family were included "fell the great white backt cow wch was brought over with the first in the Ann," and "heere also two shee goats."

Mr. Hicks acquired a considerable estate, as may be seen by the records in Plymouth, having possessions on both the north and south sides of the town; also at "Heigh Pynes" and "Iland Creeke."

April 7, 1642, he sold two acres of meadow marsh lying at the High Pines to Governor William Bradford, its value of four pounds to be paid in corn or cattle. May 7th of the same year he deeded to William Brett of "Duxborrow," for a consideration of seven pounds, seven acres of upland at Island Creek, "in the noock towards the Sea," and the following year conveyed his title in the fences, "this land being almost fenced about." Oct. 9, 1645, he conveyed to George Partrich two acres of marsh meadow valued at four pounds, "to be prsently payd in two hoggs and the rest in corn."

Robert Hicks was one of the freemen "of the Incorporacon of Plymoth" in 1633, and the same year we find him "rated for publike use" in the sum of eighteen shillings.

He died March 24, 1647, and his widow in 1665, her will being dated July 8th, and administration was granted her son-in-law, George Watson, March 6, 1665–6.

6. STEPHEN LINCOLN, m. Lydia Foster.

PART SECOND.

STEPHEN LINCOLN AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

SIXTH GENERATION.

I.

Stephen Lincoln was born in Rehoboth, Mass., Dec. 3, 1751. He removed to New Braintree with his father about 1759. He learned the tanner's trade, and may perhaps have been associated with his elder brother Nathaniel in the business. He served in the Revolutionary war from August, 1778, to February, 1779, in the Rhode Island campaign, in which General John Sullivan attempted unsuccessfully the siege of Newport.

He married in Oakham April 29, 1779, Lydia Foster, daughter of Lieut. Ebenezer and Hannah (Parlin) Foster. At this time he settled in Oakham, and built, according to tradition, a log house on Bogel Hill, where several of his children were born. This was in the vicinity of the farm owned by his father-in-law, which he had bought and settled upon in 1756. March 6, 1783, Stephen Lincoln purchased of the estate of Silas Hill, a tract of ninety-two acres, upon which he was probably then living, at a cost of £201. Nov. 9, 1787, he bought of Ala Adams of Natick fifty acres more adjoining his first purchase, and the following year, June 11th, Ezra Pepper of New Braintree conveyed to him twenty-five acres in addition, also adjoining. April 27, 1790, he secured twenty-four acres more from Nehemiah Putnam of Sutton, it being part of the farm once owned by Thomas Bogel. About 1784 he built a large house, in the fashion of the day, which is still standing in a good state of preservation, on the north side of the road leading from Rutland to Barre Plains. It is located at the foot of a hill, on the top of which is the house formerly occupied by Lieutenant Foster, his father-in-law, and in which his wife was born. This has now passed into the hands of strangers. An excellent picture of the house as it now appears is given as the frontispiece of this book, and is from a photograph taken Sept. 11, 1894, by Mr. Charles L. Goodwin of Hartford. The fine old Colonial doorway being hidden by the dense growth of shrubbery that surrounds the house, a separate picture of it is given.

He erected a tannery nearly opposite his dwelling, and conducted that business in connection with his farming operations. Tradition relates that in the chimney of this building he concealed his money, placed in an old shoe, during the time the British General Burgoyne's army was barracked at Rutland, near by, in the days of the Revolutionary war. Stephen Lincoln was a member of the Oakham Congregational church, and was chosen chorister June 17, 1779. He held the office of highway surveyor in 1781, 1792, and 1798. He was warden in 1784, and selectman in 1791 and 1798. He is remembered as a man of imposing appearance, large and tall, while his wife was small of stature. The portrait of Mr. Lincoln here given, is from a pencil sketch made a few years before his death, by Miss Elizabeth Davis of Boston. It is the only picture of him extant, and is said to have been an excellent likeness. He died in Oakham March 16, 1840, and his wife died April 8, 1839. They are buried in the cemetery on the Barre Plains road, about two miles northwesterly from Oakham Center. The following simple inscriptions are to be seen on their gravestones:

MR STEPHEN
LINCOLN
DIED
MARCH 16 1840
ÆT 84

WIFE OF
STEPHEN LINCOLN
DIED
APRIL 8 1839
ÆT 78

It will be observed that Stephen Lincoln's age at death as recorded on the stone is erroneous. He was 89 at the time of his death. A fact worth calling attention to is the large number of his grandchildren. There were sixty-five, a large number of them attaining mature years. The children were all born in Oakham.

58. V. THEODORE MILES, b. March 16, 1830, in Hartford; d. there Feb. 25, 1863. He m. in Hartford, April 2, 1857, Mary Jane Winship, daughter of Joseph and Mary (Ives) Winship. She was born in Hartford, Nov. 25, 1833, and now resides there. Mr. Lincoln was an iron manufacturer. They had no children.

Levi Lincoln went to Boston when a young man and engaged there as a gold-beater, but about 1813 removed to Hartford, Conn., and followed for a few years the business of manufacturing hand cards. He subsequently returned to Boston, but came again to Hartford about 1828 where he permanently settled, and in 1832 became agent of the Hartford Card Manufactory then located on Ann street. Machine cards were made by a machine invented by Mr. Amos Whittemore of Cambridge, for which he took a patent in 1797. Mr. Lincoln made improvements upon the card-making machine that remain to this day. At one time the concern on Ann street had on its books the names of nine hundred women and children, scattered about the country, who were employed at odd times in setting the wire teeth of the cards. Mr. Lincoln's improvement for punching holes in the leather and inserting the teeth by a continuous process, put an end to this domestic industry. Mr. Lincoln invented the hook and eye machine, the Lincoln molasses gate, now very largely used, the Lincoln lathe, the Lincoln milling machine, friction and split pulleys, etc.

In 1834 he established on Arch street the works subsequently known as The Phœnix Iron Works, and in 1841 became associated with his son under the name of George S. Lincoln & Co., and a large business in the manufacture of lathes, pulleys, shafting, and small tools resulted. Gun tools of recognized superiority were made in large quantities for the armories of Europe and the United States. A good deal of machinery for silk mills was also made here. About 1846 Mr. Lincoln became deeply interested in experiments for discovering the utilities of electro-plating, and a new and valuable line of business was developed, in the hands of Mr. William Rogers, with whom he had been associated in this direction. In 1859 he retired from active business, and for some years before his death was the victim of persistent and protracted ill-health. Mr. Lincoln was for many years a member of Dr. Bushnell's church, and later of the South Congregational church.

Stephen Lincoln was engaged in the manufacture of wire-work, at first alone, and later, in company with his son, and after the death of the latter entered into partnership with Hon. Moses O. Ayers. In the earlier days of the business the product was drawn by team to Boston, 60 miles distant. Mr. Lincoln served in the war of 1812 as a sergeant in the Washington Grenadiers, a company composed of men from Oakham and New Braintree and attached to the Third Regiment, First Brigade, Seventh Division of Massachusetts Volunteer Militia. This company was called into service in the war of 1812, and marched from Oakham Common September 11, 1814, proceeded to Boston and remained in service until November 7th. Mr. Lincoln was a member of the Oakham Congregational church; assistant superintendent of the Sunday-school at its organization in 1818, and for many years following. He was highway surveyor in 1817 and 1821.

Mr. Hunter spent his minority in his native town, then removed to Worcester where he remained twelve years. The balance of his life was passed in West Newton where he was an active member of the Second Congregational Church. He was engaged in the packing business at Muncie, Ind., and spent three months each winter in that city.

*127. III. FREDERICK LINCOLN HUNTER, b. May 18, 1861.

Mr. Hunter removed with his father's family to Rutland when he was five years old, remaining there until he was 20, when he went to Worcester and worked for his brother Ira five years, then settled in Watertown, Mass., and engaged for himself in the provision business, in which enterprise he was very successful. While a resident of Watertown he and his wife labored with great zeal to build up the Phillips church. On account of broken health, he relinquished his business in Watertown in 1856 and removed to Newton, but while living there carried on a large packing business at the West, which, although successful at first, finally, under the stress of hard times, became a failure. After the Civil War he removed with his family to St. Louis, Mo., and in 1870 to Southern Kansas, and in 1874 to Kansas City, where he entered into trade. After the death of his wife in 1881, he returned to Newton for a short time, but again went West and settled in Kansas City, Kan. (then Wyandotte), and engaged in the real estate business, remaining until after the death of his second wife, when he removed to Denver, Col., where he resides with his son.

*141. III. ANNIE ELIZABETH DAVIS, b. June 27, 1854; m. Richard B. Cowley.

Mr. Davis began his business life as a blacksmith in his native town, where he remained the greater part of the time until 1845, when he went to Elizabeth, N. J., to take charge of a department in the works of the Elizabethport Cordage Company. His mechanical ingenuity was remarkable, and although the manufacture of rope was to him a new business, his aptitude in adapting himself to changed conditions was such, and the application of his inventive genius so conducive to favorable results, that in a short time the firm was manufacturing rope that became famous. In 1861 he was sent to England and Scotland to establish similar enterprises there, and was most successful in its accomplishment. He remained in the employ of this firm until he was 78 years of age, when he retired from active employment.

CHILDREN OF ENOCH AND LUCY (LINCOLN) GOODALE. (5)

Stephen Lincoln Goodale, born in Quampegan (South Berwick), Maine, Aug. 14, 1815. Resides in Saco, Maine. He married in Bangor, Sept. 23, 1838, Prudence Aiken Nourse, daughter of Benjamin Jr. and Mary (Goodale) Nourse. She was born in Bangor Dec. 8, 1820, and died in Saco Jan. 21, 1885. The children were born in Saco.

CHILDREN.

*168. I. GEORGE LINCOLN GOODALE, b. Aug. 3, 1839.

169. II. CAROLINE HOPKINS GOODALE, b. May 3, 1842; resides in Saco.

*170. III. BENJAMIN NOURSE GOODALE, b. Aug. 5, 1845.

171. IV. WALTER TEMPLE GOODALE, b. Sept. 7, 1751; graduated from Bowdoin College in 1874; was a teacher for some years in Colorado and California; graduated from Harvard Medical School in 1888, and is now engaged in the practice of medicine in Saco.

*172. V. ALFRED MONTGOMERY GOODALE, b. Dec. 20, 1855.

Mr. Goodale's father removed to Saco the year following his son's birth, where he followed his trade of bookbinder, adding to this the sale of books and, as was the custom then, of medicines. From his earliest youth the inquiring and studious lad was surrounded by books and chemicals, and was brought into contact with many physicians and teachers who frequented his father's shop. His taste for investigation was stimulated by the preceptor of the newly established Thornton Academy, in which he afterwards received a sound preparatory education. Instead of proceeding to college as did most of his classmates he returned to assist in the composite business of his father until his relinquishment to the son in 1837, making himself acquainted with all of its details, and entering with zeal into special chemical studies connected with pharmacy and agriculture. Inheriting rural tastes, needing open air exercise, and desiring more land than a town garden spot, he bought in 1841 the place where he has since lived. Here during more than forty years were carried on experiments in the applications of science to plant life not only in agriculture, but forestry, fruit, and flower culture, and artificial fertilizers. In 1856 the legislature created a State Board of Agriculture. Being strongly urged to accept its secretaryship he reluctantly consented, but becoming deeply interested in the work continued his service by unanimous re-elections until 1873. His published works, covering a period of more than twenty years, touch every branch of modern agriculture, and are filled with sagacious suggestions which render many of them even now of high value. One of his special studies in regard to the principles of breeding domestic animals was published in 1861. In this work his wide information, his sagacity, and his mature judgment are very conspicuous. He has given special attention to the subject of artificial fertilizers adapted to the needs of farmers in Maine, and he has been fortunate in extending the range of utility of certain phosphates hitherto thought to be of little importance. The vigor of his intellect and his persistence in study are best shown by his acquisition of the German language, sufficiently for his scientific reading, at the age of sixty-five. During ten years he served as a trustee and ten more as vice-president, and for more than twenty years as president of the Saco and Biddeford Savings Institution. In his eightieth year his alertness of mind is not impaired. He takes constantly a deep interest in all scientific and social questions.

Sarah Temple Goodale, born in Saco, Oct. 26, 1817; died in Wakefield, Mass., May 31, 1884. She married in Saco May 15, 1843, William Montgomery, son of James and Mary (McInnis) Montgomery. He was born at Blantyre Mills, Lannarkshire, Scotland, March 3, 1820.

CHILDREN.

She was b. in Tarrytown, N. Y., Aug. 30, 1846. They reside in New York city. Mr. Montgomery is a mechanical engineer. He enlisted Aug. 12, 1862, and served as a private in the First New York Mounted Rifles until discharged June 12, 1865.

174. II. LUCY LINCOLN MONTGOMERY, b. Jan. 1, 1846, in Craigville, N. Y.

175. III. MARGARET AUGUSTA MONTGOMERY, b. Aug. 26, 1848, in Craigville; m. in Wakefield, Mass., Sept. 1, 1886, Greenleaf Austin Goodale, son of Ephraim Jr. and Lucinda Larned (Martyn) Goodale. He was born in Orrington, Maine, July 4, 1839. He enlisted in May, 1861, in the 6th Maine Infantry, was appointed first lieutenant in the 5th Infantry Corps d'Afrique in January, 1864, captain 10th U. S. Heavy Artillery the same year, and mustered out Nov. 10, 1866, in order to accept a first lieutenancy in the 23d U. S. Infantry. Was promoted to be captain June 25, 1878. They live at San Antonio, Texas.

176. IV. MARY GOODALE MONTGOMERY, b. Jan. 9, 1851, in Craigville; m. in Saco July 29, 1880, William Frederic Slocum, Jr., son of William Frederic and Margaret (Tinker) Slocum of Newtonville, Mass. He was b. in Grafton, Mass., July 29, 1851. Graduated from Amherst College in 1874; Andover Theological Seminary in 1878, and is president of Colorado College. They reside at Colorado Springs, Colorado.

177. V. ELIZABETH ROBINSON MONTGOMERY, b. May 1, 1857, in Yonkers; d. at Colorado Springs, July 17, 1890.

*178. VI. WILLIAM TEMPLE MONTGOMERY, b. Feb. 18, 1859.

179. VII. SARA HELEN MONTGOMERY, b. Aug. 11, 1862, in Yonkers.

Mr. Montgomery removed to the United States in 1837, and settled in Saco. In 1842 he removed to Matteawan, N. Y., where he became the superintendent of two cotton mills, his father and grandfather having been engaged in cotton manufacture and he himself brought up in the business. In 1845 he built a mill at Craigville, N. Y., and was agent there for ten years. In 1855 he removed to Yonkers, N. Y., and remained there ten years engaged in the machine business. Then, in 1865, went to Halifax, N. S. In 1883 he returned to the United States and settled in Wakefield, Mass., his present residence. He has been for ten or more years engaged in the life insurance business, having an office in Boston. While a resident of Halifax he was elected an alderman of the city and held this position for two years, and was also an elder in the Presbyterian church there.

CHILDREN OF LUTHER AND ELIZABETH (LINCOLN) HUNTER. (6.)

*185. VI. SIGOURNEY FAY CLARK, b. Aug. 9, 1863.
186. VII. ABRAHAM LINCOLN CLARK, b. July 17, 1865.

Hon. Amos Clark, Jr., well known as a public man, commenced his political career in 1866 as a member of the city council of Elizabeth. He was elected the same year to the State Senate and served until 1869. In 1872 he was elected to Congress on the Republican ticket and served one term, and it is said of him that no representative of his district ever did so much, directly or indirectly, for its commercial interests. He has been identified with most of the prominent enterprises in Elizabeth. He established and for fourteen years was president of the First National Bank. He was also the founder and president of the National Fire & Marine Insurance Company. The Newark & Elizabeth Horse Railroad Company was also the result of his enterprise, and he held until 1872 the office of its president. He was prominent in the establishment of the State Agricultural Society and for years practically carried it through all its difficulties, and until within a few years was its president. His latest financial venture was the establishment of the Citizens' Bank, of which he is now president. He is and has been widely interested in real estate projects, and much of the prosperity of Elizabeth is due to his enterprise.

CHILDREN OF LEVI AND MALINDA (MILES) LINCOLN. (7.)

54.

George Stanley Lincoln, born in Boston, Mass., Oct. 2, 1818; died in Hartford, Conn., April 2, 1894. He married in Hartford, Jan. 30, 1842, Mary Sophia Packard, daughter of Caleb Leach and Phila (Pease) Packard. She was born in Hartford, Sept. 21, 1821, and died there Aug. 9, 1847. He married (2d) in Hartford, Oct. 23, 1848, Elizabeth Barnard Packard, sister of his former wife. She was born in Hartford, Oct. 14, 1826, and resides in that city. The children were born in Hartford.

CHILDREN.

197. I. GEORGE FRANCIS, b. Feb. 16, 1850; m. in New Rochelle, N. Y., Sept. 4, 1879, Ella Willerine Lockwood, widow of Samuel F. Lockwood of New York, and daughter of James and Addie M. (Wood) French of that city. She was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 25, 1850. Mr. Lincoln graduated from Yale College in 1870, and from Columbia Law School in 1875. He practiced law for a while in New York; then went to Stettin, Germany, as United States consul, and subsequently filled similar official positions at Aix-la-Chapelle, and at Antwerp, Belgium. He at present resides in Hartford.

*198. II. FREDERICK MILES, b. March 19, 1852.

199. III. MARY, b. Nov. 12, 1854; resides in Hartford.

Mr. Lincoln removed with his father to Hartford when he was eight years of age. In 1841 he organized the firm of George S. Lincoln & Co., his father being associated with him, and five years later his brother Charles was admitted to the firm, which had become widely known as a manufacturer of machinery. This business has been conducted to the present day, without default, compromise, or law-suit — a remarkable record. In 1884 Mr. Lincoln spent six months abroad for the benefit of his health, which, however, did not become permanently restored, and the following year he retired from business. He subsequently suffered from impaired eyesight, which gradually increased, until, several years before his death, he became totally blind — an affliction which he bore with exemplary resignation and patience. For forty-eight years he was a member of what is now known as the Park Church in Hartford, which was formerly, and at the time of his connection with it, under the pastorate of the famous Dr. Horace Bushnell. In his earlier years he served in the State militia, rising to the grade of lieutenant in the old Light Guard, and was subsequently promoted to the position of Brigade Inspector on the staff of General Waterman. Mr. Lincoln served in the Common Council six years, and two terms as a member of the Board of Aldermen. He was for thirty-three years a director in the old Hartford Bank; was also director in the Orient Insurance Company, the Syracuse Coal and Salt Company, and the Spring Grove Cemetery Association. He was one of Hartford's most influential citizens.

Sarah King Lincoln, born in Boston, July 28, 1822; died in Hartford, Sept. 29, 1855. She married in Hartford, Dec. 9, 1844, Festus C. Felt, son of Jacob and Abigail (Chapin) Felt of Springfield, Mass. He was born in Springfield, March 8, 1814. He was, before retiring from business, a merchant tailor, located first in New York, and subsequently in Hartford and Brooklyn, in which city he now resides at 441 Gates Avenue. He married (2d) in Brooklyn, March 24, 1869, Isabella Hill, daughter of Peter and Margaret (Miller) Hill of Montgomery, N. Y. She was born in Montgomery, April 3, 1819.

Professor Goodale served as apprentice in pharmacy under his father's direction during his preparation for college. He graduated from Amherst in 1860, and from the Harvard Medical School in 1863, receiving the degree of M.D., also from the Medical School of Maine in the same year. He practiced medicine in Portland, being for two years city physician, and teaching various branches in the Portland School for Medical Instruction. In 1868, after extensive journeys on the Pacific Coast and in Europe, he became an instructor and professor in Bowdoin College. While there he gave instruction also in the Medical School of Maine. In 1872 he accepted the instructorship in botany and the university lectureship in vegetable physiology at Harvard College, becoming assistant professor in the following year. In 1878 he was made professor of botany, and in 1888, on the death of Professor Asa Gray, was transferred to the Fisher professorship of natural history, which chair he still occupies. Professor Goodale's travels in the pursuit of his specialty of economic botany have carried him to Central America, many times to Europe, and lately to the Asiatic tropics, to Australasia, to China, and Japan.

His publications have been numerous. He is a member of the National Academy of Science, of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, of the American Philosophical Society, and is an honorary member of many scientific societies at home and abroad.
